Translations, B Marjorie Agosín, Martin Anderson, 1983 Empirical modelling of translation and interpreting
Hansen-Schirra, Silvia, Czulo, Oliver, Hofmann, Sascha, 2017 Empirical research is carried out in a cyclic way approaching a research area bottom up data lead to interpretations and ideally to the abstraction of laws on the basis of which a theory can be derived Deductive research is based on a theory on the basis of which hypotheses can be formulated and tested against the background of empirical data Looking at the state of the art in translation studies either theories as well as models are designed or empirical data are collected and interpreted However the final step is still lacking so far empirical data has not lead to the formulation of theories or models whereas existing theories and models have not yet been comprehensively tested with empirical methods This publication addresses these issues from several perspectives multi method product as well as process based research may gain insights into translation as well as interpreting phenomena These phenomena may include cognitive and organizational processes procedures and strategies competence and performance translation properties and universals etc Empirical findings about the deeper structures of translation and interpreting will reduce the gap between translation and interpreting practice and model and theory building Furthermore the availability of more large scale empirical testing triggers the development of models and theories concerning translation and interpreting phenomena and behavior based on quantifiable replicable and transparent data Translations, 1983 Translation and Cognition
Gregory M. Shreve, Erik Angelone, 2010 Translation and Cognition assesses the state of the art in cognitive translation and interpreting studies by examining three important trends methodological innovation the evolution of research design and the continuing integration of translation process research results with the core findings of the cognitive sciences Several of the volume s essays focus on fruitful new process research methods such as eye tracking and keystroke logging that have arisen to supplement the use of think aloud protocols Another set of contributions investigates how some central theories concepts and methods from our sister disciplines of psycholinguistics cognitive psychology and neuroscience can inform our understanding of translation processes and their development in novices and experts Yet another set of essays argues that methodological innovation and integration with the cognitive sciences can lead to more robust research designs and theoretical frameworks to explain the intricacies of cognitive processing during translation and interpreting Thus this timely volume actively demonstrates that a new theoretical and methodological consensus in cognitive translation studies is emerging promising to greatly improve the quality verifiability and generalizability of translation process research
