The Cuban Missile Crisis, 1962, 1990 Castro's Cuba, Cuba's Fidel Lee Lockwood, 2003-06-30 Mr Lockwood s exciting book holds many surprises for the reader who has seen the Cuban reality up to now only through the distorting prism of propaganda During Mr Lockwood s latest 14 week visit to Cuba in 1965 he had a seven day marathon conversation with Fidel the transcription of which with excellent photographs constitutes the heart of the book A first rate psychological document this book is also an historical one in that it contains information necessary to the understanding of several conversational questions such as the priority given agriculture in the development of the Cuban economy the dissension between Moscow and Havana or even the intellectual road by which Castro came to Marxism Moreover it provides particulars up to now unknown Claude Julien The New York Times Book Review Lockwood gives us crowds posters individual studies Fidel in every possible mood the cities farms country towns most of Cuba is in the photographs Lockwood s text consists mainly of excerpts from several interviews he got from Fidel in 1965 In one way or another Fidel touches on all the events of crucial importance from the beginning of the insurrection until 1965 and the interviews thus become an explanation of the revolution that we badly need Jose Yglesias The New Republic The author s questions to Fidel are tough and penetrating and they elicited the same kind of answers The lively record deserves and encourages serious study K G Jackson Harper s Magazine Given the paucity of scholarly work on contemporary Cuba and the difficulty of visiting the island the photographs interview materials and interpretations of this gifted journalist must go high on the reading list of anyone professional or lay person who maintains a serious interest in Cuban affairs and in that most dramatic and important of twentieth century Latin American leaders Fidel Castro Richard Fagan Hispanic American Historical Review

Fencing with Fidel and Other Tales of Life in the Foreign Service John Ferch, 2014-04-11 Fidel Castro described Ambassador John Ferch as very intelligent but dangerous Ferch tell the American people that I m serious he insisted The ambassador was given messages to take back to Washington Ferch the Comandante Fidel wants you to tell the President that we are revolutionaries not narcotraficantes Mr Ambassador you ve got to stop him the Honduran president Scatter my ashes upon the River Plate as a pox forever upon Argentina And so run the misconceptions of American diplomatic power depicted in this hilarious and sometimes serious recounting of 30 years in the Foreign Service From Argentina through Latin America and across to the Caribbean Ambassador Ferch pursued our foreign policy with Latin American society at all levels Attempted bribery by Dominican politicians admissions of inconsistencies by Mexican diplomats evidence of misconstrued machismo dealing with suspicious indigenous peoples both enlivened his days and warmed his heart Fencing with Fidel is not a typical diplomatic memoir While he discusses and explains foreign policy Ferch is more interested in showing the very human aspects of life in the Foreign Service He demonstrates that it is not a craft that you could learn or practice in his home town of Toledo Ohio Both would be entrants to the craft and those interested in how the Latin and the Yankee actually interact on the ground will find Fencing with Fidel enlightening and enjoyable Ferch uses his career to explore the culture of Latin America and to explain the unusual pressures under which our diplomats work Most episodes are treated lightly and with humor because he found the Foreign Service rewarding and enjoyable Some are handled more seriously befitting the policy difficulties he faced The book also stresses the important and difficult role played by spouses in a Foreign Service career LIFE, 1964-08-28 LIFE Magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th Century It now lives on at LIFE com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet Users can browse search and view photos of today s people and events They have free access to share print and post images for personal use The Selling of Fidel Castro William E. Ratliff, 1987-01 Inside Cuba Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, 1985 The City Creative Michael H. Carriere, David Schalliol, 2021-04-18 In the wake of the Great Recession American cities from Philadelphia to San Diego saw an upsurge in hyperlocal placemaking small scale interventions aimed at encouraging greater equity and community engagement in growth and renewal But the projects that were the most successful at achieving these lofty ambitions weren t usually established by politicians urban planners or real estate developers they were initiated by community activists artists and neighbors In order to figure out why The City Creative mounts a comprehensive study of placemaking in urban America tracing its intellectual history and contrasting it with the efforts of people making positive change in their communities today Spanning the 1950s to the post recession 2010s The City Creative highlights the roles of such prominent individuals and organizations as Jane Jacobs Christopher Alexander Richard Sennett Project for Public Spaces and the National Endowment for the Arts in the development of urban placemaking both in the abstract and on the ground But that s only half the story Bringing the narrative to the present Michael H Carriere and David Schalliol also detail placemaking interventions at more than 200 sites in more than 40 cities combining archival research interviews participant observation and Schalliol s powerful documentary photography Carriere and Schalliol find that while these formal and informal placemaking interventions can bridge local community development and regional economic plans more often than not they push the boundaries of mainstream placemaking Rather than simply stressing sociability or market driven economic development these initiatives offer an alternative model of community led progress with the potential to redistribute valuable resources while producing tangible and intangible benefits for their communities The City Creative provides a kaleidoscopic overview of how these initiatives grow and sometimes collapse illustrating the centrality of placemaking in the evolution of the American city and how it can be reoriented to meet demands for a more equitable future
