The Wrong Set:

The Wrong Set Angus Wilson, 1957 British Literature in Transition, 1940-1960: Postwar Gill Plain, 2018-12-20
Postwar is both a period and a state of mind a sensibility comprised of hope fear and fatigue in which British society and its writers paradoxically yearned both for political transformation and a nostalgic reinstatement of past securities From the Labour landslide victory of 1945 to the emergence of the Cold War and the humiliation of Suez in 1956 this was a period of radical political transformation in Britain and beyond but these changes resisted literary assimilation Arguing that writing and history do not map straightforwardly one onto the other and that the postwar cannot easily be fitted into the explanatory paradigms of modernism or postmodernism this book offers a more nuanced recognition of what was written and read in the period From wartime radio writing to 1950s travellers cold war poetry to radical theatre magazine cultures to popular fiction this volume examines important debates that animated postwar Britain On Modern British Fiction Zachary Leader, 2002
In this volume fourteen of today's very best novelists and critics join forces to create a landmark study of the last 50 years of British fiction Essays by Martin Amis Ian McEwan Hilary Mantel James Wood Christopher Hitchens Michael Wood Elaine Showalter and others range from modern historical fiction and nationality to lad lit and the comic tradition from criticism and reviewing to the reception of British fiction in America Among the many writers explored here are Angus Wilson Angela Carter Iris Murdoch Penelope Fitzgerald V S Pritchett Naipaul and Rushdie Provocative and insightful this is a must read for anyone interested in modern fiction Reasoning and Thinking K. I. Manktelow, 1999 This undergraduate textbook reviews psychological research in the major areas of reasoning and thinking deduction induction hypothesis testing probability judgement and decision making It also covers the major theoretical debates in each area and devotes a chapter to one of the liveliest issues in the field the question of human rationality Central themes that recur throughout the book include not only rationality but also the relation between normative theories such as logic probability theory and decision theory and human performance both in experiments and in the world outside the laboratory No prior acquaintance with formal systems is assumed and everyday examples are used throughout to illustrate technical and theoretical points The book differs from others in the market firstly in the range of material covered other tend to focus primarily on either reasoning or thinking It is also the first student level text to survey an important new theoretical perspective the information gain or rational analysis approach and to review the rationality debate from the standpoint of psychological research in a wide range of areas
