Cultures of Violence in the New German Street Patricia Anne Simpson, 2011-11-21 In post Wall Germany violence both real and imagined is increasingly determining the formation of new cultural identities Patricia Anne Simpson's book focuses on the representation of violence in three youth subcultures often characterized by aggression as they enact a rivalry for supremacy on the new German street the author's operative metaphor to situate the cultural discourse about violence The selected literary texts films and music exemplify the urgent need for a sustained debate about violence as an aspect of both social reality and the national imaginary Simpson's study discloses the relationship between narratives of violence and issues of immigration ethnic difference and poverty Her lucid readings examine the ways in which violence is grounded in the asphalt of Germany's new street This interdisciplinary study identifies the motivations decisions and consequences of violent acts and the stories that convey them Simpson draws examples from popular genres and subcultures including punk hip hop and skinhead sounds styles and politics With theoretical sophistication and analytical clarity the author locates the contested territory of the street within larger European contexts of violence while paying careful attention to the particularities of German history She reveals new insights into the construction of citizenship masculinity and contemporary ethics In addition Simpson demonstrates the importance of concepts embedded in the representation of violence including revised definitions of heroism community and evolving ideas of fraternity family and home

Young Black Street Masculinities Brendan King, 2022-02-12 This book describes how young Black men on a disadvantaged housing estate in London navigate the estate's expectations for their behaviour as they operate within a street code that endorses violence knife carrying and challenging masculinity This street code informs the men's masculine identities by promoting values of misogyny violence and the possession of expensive material objects while subduing any performance or features deemed as weak or feminine Chapters detail the daily pressure on young men to gain respect and perform the estate's street code while also providing examples of young men who have escaped or rejected its influence King also outlines how youth workers can support those trapped by the estate's street code by embodying personalised or caring masculinity features that seek to transform the dominant masculinity

War, Genocide, and Justice Cathy J. Schlund-Vials, 2012-11-11 In the three years eight months and twenty days of the Khmer Rouge's deadly reign over Cambodia an estimated 1.7 million Cambodians perished as a result of forced labor execution starvation and disease Despite the passage of more than thirty years two regime shifts and a contested U N intervention only one former Khmer Rouge official has been successfully tried and sentenced for crimes against humanity in an international court of law to date It is against this background of war genocide and denied justice that Cathy J Schlund Vials explores the work of 1 5 generation Cambodian American artists and writers Drawing on what James Young labels memory work the collected articulation of large scale human loss War Genocide and Justice investigates the remembrance work of Cambodian American cultural producers through film memoir and music Schlund Vials includes interviews with artists such as Anida Yoeu Ali praCh Ly Sambath Hy and Socheata Poeuv Alongside the enduring legacy of the Killing Fields and post 9 11 deportations of Cambodian American youth artists potently reimagine alternative sites for memorialization reclamation and justice Traversing borders these artists generate forms of genocidal remembrance that combat amnesic politics and revise citizenship practices in the United States and Cambodia Engaged in politicized acts of resistance individually produced and communally consumed Cambodian American memory work represents a significant and previously unexamined site of Asian American critique

The Northwestern Reporter, 1915 Candelária massacre. Prejudice towards Brazilian street children Marcos Alonso Rodriguez, 2014-07-29 Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject Psychology Social Psychology grade 66 Nottingham Trent University language English abstract On 23 July 1993 at night a group of men fired on a group of over 50 street children who were sleeping in the surrounding area of the Candelária Church in Rio de Janeiro city centre Five children and one young adult were killed almost immediately three others were kidnapped with fatal consequences for two of them The remaining survived a shot on his face as the gang had left him for dead Taking in sum seven children and one young adult where killed in this episode However the disgrace for the survivors did not stop that night it is believed that 39 out of the children who used to sleep in Candelária by that time have died in a violent way AI 2003 This butchery was carried out by death squads which mainly involved members of the Military Police of Rio that is those who are supposed to protect the civilians Its origin in words of the accused me was some stones thrown at a police car The Candelária slaughter has also become famous for being the first time that a Brazilian policeman is found guilty of murdering a street child Csillag 1996 In the following pages I will try to explain the general situation of street children and why they exist in Brazil while making references to how psychological and criminological theories can explain their situation However first I will define what a street child is and what are they major concerns
