State And Nation Building:

State and Nation Building Centre for the Study of Developing Societies,1976 The State and Nation-Building Processes in Kenya since Independence Waiyego Mwangi,Omondi Opongo,2019-06-25 Kenya nationalism during the colonial period was marked by two main characteristics that feature in this book First the struggle for independence that was mainly characterized by the claim for land that had been taken away by the colonizers Second was the struggle for autonomy and self determination mainly through political resistance The authors in this book analyse historical trajectories of Kenya s nationalism trends while highlighting the role of political leaders large as well as small ethnic groups perennial conflicts community as well as religious leaders among others The discussions demonstrate that quest for a national identity that is inclusive at all levels whether politically economically religiously and ethnically has marked Kenya s struggle for nationalism sometimes leading to violence especially during election periods national unity through political coalitions and reconciliation as well as institutional reforms In conclusion the authors demonstrate that while Kenya is gradually advancing towards national cohesion there are still many challenges yet to be surmounted Nation-Building, State and the Genderframing of Women's Rights in the United Arab Emirates \(1971-2009\) Vania Carvalho Pinto,2022-07-01 In the United Arab Emirates the extensive change to Emirati women s traditional rights and roles has been one of the most visible transformations taking place throughout the country s 40 years of modern history This book offers an interpretation of why and how these modifications came about The book discovers that there is no direct or easy link between the State s offer of rights towards women and society s acceptance of them Given these circumstances the mechanisms that induce women to actually take advantage of what is offered have not been given sufficient attention The concept of genderframing aims precisely at defining the connecting mechanism and explaining the successes and failures of these policies both mobilization wise and implementation wise The term genderframing refers to a dynamic and interactive process between the State and its population which entails the symbolic rework of meanings associated with women related policies It is argued that such re interpretation has been purposefully conducted by the Emirati State in order to portray the changing roles of women as necessary and desirable for reasons associated with nation building purposes religious conformity promotion of family values and efforts at indigenous cultural preservation The book highlights the profound intertwining of gender nation building and domestic socio political dynamics in a country that while seeking to establish its modernizing credentials is still struggling for self definition and empowerment Ethnic Relations and Nation-Building in Southeast Asia Leo Suryadinata,2004 Ethnic racial relations have been a perennial theme in Southeast Asian studies Current events have highlighted the tensions among ethnic groups and the need to maintain ethnic racial harmony for national unity This book analyses ethnic race relations in Singapore Malaysia and Indonesia with special reference to the roles of ethnic Chinese in nation building It brings together a group of established Southeast Asian scholars to critically examine some of the important issues such as ethnic politics nation building state policies and conflict resolution These scholars of different ethnic origins present their own ethnic perspectives and hence make the book unique This is the most up to date book on ethnic racial relations with special reference to the ethnic Chinese in three Southeast Asian countries Football and Nation Building in Colombia (2010-2018) Peter J. Watson, 2022-06-09 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library as part of the Opening the Future project with COPIM This book explores the pivotal role that football played as part of Colombian President Juan Manuel Santos national unity project centred on the peace process with the FARC Football has huge political and social capital in Latin America and has often been rhetorically deployed by governments for various ends rarely however has football's power and potential been used in such a deliberate strategic and active way towards a national peace process and targeted such enduring divisions that have historically impeded a sense of a united nation and national identity Football in Colombia is understood popularly as one of the few things capable of uniting the country a belief that Santos seized upon as the national team had a successful campaign in the 2014 World Cup This first book on Colombian football in English explores previous iterations of football nationalism in the country including the El Dorado and Narcofootball eras before analysing Santos three pronged strategy empowering professional and amateur football including the use of political speeches and Twitter legislation and public policy and Sport for Development and Peace campaigns with a particular focus on football in the FARC demobilisation and reincorporation camps following the historic peace agreement

Nation Building in Turkey and Morocco Senem Aslan, 2015 This book compares the relatively peaceful relationship between the Berbers and the Moroccan state with the violent relationship between the Kurds and the Turkish state Routledge Handbook of State, Nation and Nationalism in South Asia Amit Ranjan, 2026-03-30 The Routledge Handbook of State Nation and Nationalism in South Asia analyses the nature of postcolonial South Asian states examines enduring debates on nation and nationalism and investigates the role of interconnected structure and agency in constructing an idea of nation and nationalism in respective South Asian countries Following an introduction by the editor the book is structured in three parts Part I Nature of State Part II Imagining a Nation and Nation Making and Part III Contesting Nationalism Written by a mix of established and young scholars on South Asian politics and related disciplines this handbook explores the following pertinent questions about the region What is the nature of the State Who identifies which identity groups are part of the nation and who are the others What is the dominant form of nationalism Why do identity based differences and conflict exist A useful guide and reference work this handbook will be of interest to students and researchers of South Asian Studies and related disciplines
