Burma, Women's Voices for Change ,2002 Voices of Change in Cuba from the Non-State Sector Carmelo Mesa-Lago, 2019-01-09 More than one million Cubans representing thirty percent of the country's labor force currently make up the nonstate sector. These include self-employed workers and micro-entrepreneurs, sharecropping farmers, members of new cooperatives, and buyers and sellers of private dwellings. This development represents a crucial structural reform implemented by Raúl Castro since becoming Cuba's leader in 2006 and may become the most dynamic economic force for the country's future. Despite this phenomenon, little has been published about the demographic makeup of this group: age, gender, race, and education, as well as their economic conditions and aspirations. Based on eighty in-depth interviews recently conducted in Cuba, this book captures actual voices from this evolving economic sector. It details workers' level of satisfaction with what they do and earn, profits, and how they are allocated between consumption and investment; plans to expand their activities; receiving foreign remittances; and microcredit competition, forms of advertising, and payment of taxes. Perhaps most revealing are the speakers' views on the obstacles they face and their desires for change and improvement. As such, the book offers fascinating insights into today's Cuban economy from the nonstate sector while also reflecting on its potential for development and the obstacles it faces.

Voices of Change Susan B. Smith, 2026-03-09 Voices of Change explores the influence exercised by forty-eight ordinary yet extraordinary Muslim and non-Muslim women as they study and work in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa (KP), northwest Pakistan. At the end of the twentieth century, there were few women in KP's public spaces. Today, there are many women in these same spaces. Individually and collectively, they are reshaping societal practices throughout the province. Not least in KP's conservative patriarchal society, they have persuaded the heads of households to allow them to work alongside men, overturning entrenched societal norms. These ordinary women are influencing as those who hold authority, although only a few are organizational leaders. Yet influence in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa is culturally male, and there is a dissonance to female influence that all women have to overcome. They have to tackle stereotypical attitudes regarding female morality and trustworthiness and deal with obstructionism on multiple levels. The forty-eight Muslim and non-Muslim women in Voices of Change are also representative of the many who are redefining female honor, as well as female influence, in KP. In women's hands, influence is a tool and a strategy that is reshaping cultural codes and quietly changing the public sphere for future generations.

The Voices of Change Lloyd Leon, 2025-11-12 Protests have long served as a vital means for individuals and communities to express their dissatisfaction with societal issues. They provide a platform for voices that may otherwise be overlooked or silenced, facilitating dialogue around critical topics such as civil rights, environmental concerns, and social justice. Through the act of protesting, individuals unite to amplify their message, demonstrating the collective power of ordinary people standing up for change.
