Some Explicit Polaroids Mark Ravenhill, 2014-02-17 From the celebrated and controversial writer of Shopping and Fucking Some Explicit Polaroids, 1999 Some Explicit Polaroids Max Stafford-Clark, 2017 Modern British Playwriting: The 1990s Aleks Sierz, 2014-03-20 Essential for students of theatre studies this series of six decadal volumes provides a critical survey and study of the theatre produced in each decade from the 1950s to the present The 1990s volume freshly evaluates the work of Sarah Kane Mark Ravenhill Anthony Neilson and Philip Ridley besides others British Theatre of the 1990s M. Aragay, H. Klein, E. Monforte, P. Zozaya, 2007-04-23 This exciting book uniquely combines interviews with scholars and practitioners in theatre studies to look at what most people feel is a pivotal moment of British theatre the 1990s With a particular focus on in yer face theatre this volume will be essential reading for all students and scholars of contemporary British theatre After In-Yer-Face Theatre William C. Boles, 2020-04-29 This book revisits In Yer Face theatre an explosive energetic theatrical movement from the 1990s that introduced the world to playwrights Sarah Kane Martin McDonagh Mark Ravenhill Jez Butterworth and many others Split into three sections the book re examines the era considers the movement's influence on international theatre and considers its lasting effects on contemporary British theatre The first section offers new readings on works from that time period Antony Neilson and Mark Ravenhill as well as challenges myths created by the Royal Court Theatre about the its involvement with In Yer Face theatre The second section discusses the influence of In Yer Face on Portuguese Russian and Australian theater while the final section discusses the legacy of In Yer Face writers as well as their influences on more recent playwrights including chapters on Philip Ridley Sarah Kane Joe Penhall Martin Crimp Dennis Kelly and Verbatim Drama The Politics and Poetics of Contemporary English Tragedy Sean Carney, 2013-01-01 The Politics and Poetics of Contemporary English Tragedy is a detailed study of the idea of the tragic in the political plays of David Hare Howard Barker Edward Bond Caryl Churchill Mark Ravenhill Sarah Kane and Jez Butterworth Through an in depth analysis of over sixty of their works Sean Carney argues that their dramatic exploration of tragic experience is an integral part of their ongoing politics This approach allows for a comprehensive rather than selective study of both the politics and poetics of their work Carney's attention to the tragic enables him to find a common discourse among the canonical English playwrights of an older generation and representatives of the nineties generation challenging the idea that there is a sharp generational break between these groups Finally Carney demonstrates that tragic experience is often denied by the social discourse of Englishness and that these playwrights make a crucial critical intervention by dramatizing the tragic Ravenhill Plays: 1 Mark Ravenhill, 2013-04-05 Ravenhill has more to say and says it more refreshingly and wittily than any other playwright of his generation Time Out There are few stage authors writing more interestingly than Mark Ravenhill He is it is now yet more evident a searing intelligent disturbing sociologist with a talent for satirical dialogue and a flair for sexual sensationalism Financial Times Shopping and Fucking is a darkly humorous play for today's twenty somethings a real coup de theatre Nicholas de Jongh Evening Standard Faust an intelligent and witty reappropriation of the legend alive pertinent and disturbing Michael Coveney Observer Handbag combines urban grit with sly wit and reveals Mark Ravenhill as a writer of real daring Daily Telegraph Some Explicit Polaroids laudably ambitious pulsates with energy very funny Financial Times

The Depiction of Gender and Toxic Masculinity in Mark Ravenhill's "The Cut" Kristina von Kölln, 2020-11-03 Seminar paper from the year 2020 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Other grade 2.0 Technical University of Braunschweig language English abstract This paper examines the depiction of gender in Mark Ravenhill's play The Cut Special emphasis is hereby placed on the aspect of toxic masculinity a topic which has not lost its relevance since its first definition in the 1980s Toxic masculinity and patriarchal dystopian systems are closely intertwined and have for some time found their place in feminist dystopian narratives such as The Handmaid Tale by Margaret Atwood Octavia Butler's Wild Seed or Vox by Christina Dalcher At first glance Mark Ravenhill's The Cut fits into this list only in terms of the dystopian moment However upon closer inspection his play which focuses almost exclusively on the male characters also reveals the effects of patriarchal cultures and toxic masculinity on both the female and in particular the male members of society Nevertheless the aspect of gender and especially toxic masculinity has not yet been dealt with in the context of Ravenhill's work Merle Tinnies for example concentrated primarily on the aspect of the immobility of power in her detailed analysis of The Cut while Robert Kielawski placed his focus on the reinvention of utopia revolution and the big Other in decline Kielawski the aspect of gender inequality however did not seem to play a role for either of them Furthermore neither the critics nor Ravenhill himself addressed the topic In order to fill this gap the present work will analyse The Cut based on the thesis that Marc Ravenhill's The Cut represents a patriarchal dystopia whose members suffer from the effects of toxic masculinity In the course of this paper Marc Ravenhill and The Cut will be briefly introduced followed by a theoretical background on gender in dystopian fiction in general and toxic masculinity in particular and finally the depiction of gender and toxic masculinity in The Cut In order to be able to undertake an analysis that is as detailed as possible despite the limited scope of this work Chapter 4 will focus primarily on the main character of the play Paul in order to highlight the aspects of toxic masculinity However this should not lead to the assumption that not all other characters would also show similar symptoms Theatre Record ,2005
