Something Beautiful:

Constructions of Intersubjectivity Arie Verhagen, 2005-05-26 Constructions of Intersubjectivity shows that the meaning of grammatical constructions often has more to do with the human cognitive capacity for taking other people's points of view than with describing the world. Treating pragmatics, semantics, and syntax in parallel and integrating insights from linguistics, psychology, and studies in animal behaviour, Arie Verhagen develops a new understanding of linguistic communication. In doing so, he shows the continuity between language and animal communication and reveals the nature of human linguistic specialization. Professor Verhagen uses Dutch and English data from a wide variety of sources and considers the contributions of grammar to the coherence of discourse. He argues that important problems in semantics and syntax may be resolved if language is understood as an instrument for exerting influence and coordinating different perspectives. The grammatical phenomena he discusses include negative expressions, the let alone construction, complementation constructions, and discourse connectives. This powerfully argued and original explanation of the nature and operation of communication will interest a wide range of scholars and advanced students in linguistics, cognitive science, and human evolution. Catalog of Copyright Entries, Library of Congress, Copyright Office, 1971

Beauty and the End of Art Sonia Sedivy, 2016-04-21 Beauty and the End of Art shows how a resurgence of interest in beauty and a sense of ending in Western art are challenging us to rethink art, beauty, and their relationship. By arguing that Wittgenstein's later work and contemporary theory of perception offer just what we need for a unified approach to art and beauty, Sonia Sedivy provides new answers to these contemporary challenges. These new accounts also provide support for the Wittgensteinian realism and theory of perception that make them possible. Wittgenstein's subtle form of realism explains artworks in terms of norm-governed practices that have their own varied constitutive norms and values. Wittgensteinian realism also suggests that diverse beauties become available and compelling in different cultural eras and bring a shared higher-order value into view. With this framework in place, Sedivy argues that perception is a form of engagement with the world that draws on our conceptual capacities. This approach explains how perceptual experience and the perceptible presence of the world are of value, helping to account for the diversity of beauties that are available in different historical contexts and why the many faces of beauty allow us to experience the value of the world's perceptible presence. Carefully examining contemporary debates about art, aesthetics, and perception, Beauty and the End of Art presents an original approach. Insights from such diverse thinkers as Immanuel Kant, Hans Georg Gadamer, and Arthur Danto, Alexander Nehamas, Elaine Scarry, and Dave Hickey are woven together to reveal how they make good sense if we bring contemporary theory of perception and Wittgensteinian realism into the conversation.

Learning at Home, PreK-3 Ann C. Barbour, 2009-10-15 Create a strong home school connection through family activities that extend learning. Packed with hundreds of engaging activities, this unique resource helps teachers plan developmentally appropriate creative homework assignments that encourage positive learning experiences and reinforce home school.

connections Focusing on social interactions within the family these fun playful activities Relate directly to children s own experiences Employ concrete easily accessible materials Include shared reading experiences family projects and games Integrate developmental and content areas including language and literacy mathematics science and the creative arts Promote literacy learning in homes where English is not the primary language

Imperfect Heroes Andrew Barkley,2022-02-20 Imperfect Heroes is intended to help teachers flourish during challenging times The book is written for all educators but especially those who seek renewal in their ability to help students learn and grow Included are the inspiring and motivational stories of twelve Teaching Heroes Successful leaders writers and artists face challenges strikingly similar to obstacles faced by teachers Iconic individuals often use life hardships as a springboard to achieve higher levels of effectiveness Teachers can do this too Personal career and relational roadblocks are universal and much can be learned from how heroes have turned trials into successes The main idea of this book is that learning about the lives of people different from ourselves can provide large benefits The application of ideas from new and divergent sources to our teaching practices can result in transformative growth in our ability to help others learn Teachers can use the hero stories intertwined with classroom examples to gain confidence motivate students and renew their commitment to making a positive contribution to the world

Planting the Seeds of Equity Ruchi Agarwal-Rangnath,2020 Bringing together an inspirational group of educators this book provides key insights into what it means to implement social justice ideals with young children pre K grade 2 Each chapter highlights a teacher s experience with a specific aspect of social justice and ethnic studies including related research projects and lesson plans and implications for teacher education The text engages readers in critical dialogue drawing from works within ethnic studies to think deeply about ideals such as humanization representation and transformation Finding ways to integrate acceptance of difference and social justice content into the primary grades is a complex and challenging endeavor These teacher stories are ones of courage and commitment inspiring the possibility of radical change Book Features Guidance for teachers who want to teach for social justice including lesson plans and strategies Examples of what ethnic studies looks like in early childhood classrooms Dialogue questions to prompt critical thinking and professional conversation Windows into classrooms that foster valuing of self and respect for diversity of color ethnicity and gender Activities to tap into personal strengths and enrich teaching including yoga and song Connections to relevant research I salute Dr Ruchi Rangnath for bringing together such a powerful set of teacher voices to produce a book that celebrates children and communities of Color From the Foreword by Patrick Camangian University of San Francisco This is an essential text for anyone interested in the transformational possibilities of early childhood education Rita Kohli University of California
