Boroush, 1980 Technology assessment at the Second International Congress issues paradigms and practice Conjectures and reflections Future Survey Annual, 1980 The Futures Research Directory World Future Society, 1987-01-01 The World Future Society is an independent nonprofit scientific and educational organization concerned with how people will live in the coming decades Founded in 1966 the Society currently has over 25 000 members worldwide Individuals and groups from all nations are eligible to join the Society and participate in its programs and activities The Society publishes a number of periodicals and books sponsors local chapters and holds conferences and assemblies The publications include THE FUTURIST a bimonthly magazine reporting trends forecasts and ideas about the future FUTURE SURVEY a monthly digest of abstracts of futures relevant literature and FUTURES RESEARCH QUARTERLY a professional journal providing information on more technical future oriented topics The Society also maintains a unique bookstore that enables members to purchase future related books cassette recordings of Society conference sessions videocassettes and more all at special member prices Chapters of the World Future Society are active in both the United States and abroad Chapters offer speakers educational courses seminars and other opportunities for members in local areas to meet and work together World Future Society conferences and general assemblies provide opportunities to hear and meet many outstanding thinkers The Society's next major conference will be held in Washington B C in August 1989 Making Babies: Biomedical Technologies, Reproductive Ethics, and Public Policy Inmaculada de Melo-Martín, 2013-03-09 Each year roughly a million new cases of cancer appear in the US and more than 500 000 Americans die annually of premature death Although medical progress has slowed cancer mortality its incidence is increasing roughly six times faster than cancer mortality is decreasing Breast cancer in particular has been increasing about one percent each year since 1973 At least two of the factors responsible for this surge in breast cancer are women's use of medically prescribed synthetic hormones and the exposure of the entire population to chemicals such as dioxin Both exposures increase the likelihood of breast cancer Although many ethicists worry about involuntary societal imposition of chemicals such as dioxin through industrial and agricultural processes allegedly voluntary exposures also constitute both a public health problem and a biomedical ethics difficulty Physicians recommend synthetic hormones for example to women who apparently take them voluntarily In the case of in vitro fertilization doctors prescribe hormones to induce egg production and to increase the chances of reproduction for couples who are unable to have children Despite the benefits of medical technologies such as hormone stimulation and in vitro fertilization they also carry great risks The price that childless women pay for their opportunity to have children through in vitro fertilization may be their own increased risk of diseases such as breast cancer that are hormone dependent TA
