Decentering Discussions on Religion and State Sargon George Donabed, Autumn Quezada-Grant, 2015-04-09 This volume explores dynamic conversations through history between individuals and communities over questions about religion and state Divided into two sections our authors begin with considerations on the separation of religion and state as well as Roger Williams concept of religious freedom Authors in the first half consider nuanced debates centered on emerging narratives with particular emphasis on Native America Early Americans and experiences in American immigration after Independence The first half of the volume examines voices in American History as they publicly engage with notions of secular ideology Discussions then shift as the volume broadens to world perspectives on religion state relations Authors consider critical questions of nation religious identity and transnational narratives The intent of this volume is to privilege new narratives about religion state relations Decentering discussions away from national narratives allows for emerging voices at the individual and community levels This volume offers readers new openings through which to understand critical but overlooked interactions between individuals and groups of people with the state over questions about religion polarized many Christians are nervous about meeting Muslims How can we possibly overcome years if not centuries of mistrust Christine Mallouhi who married into a Muslim family and has lived much of her life in the Middle East suggests we should emulate St Francis who during the Crusades went to be with the Muslims and even shared the gospel with the Sultan
